Driving Directions/Parking:
Driving/parking is not recommended due to congestion in the city.
Best to take public transportation (see directions below).

Public Transportation:

From Paris Charles de Gaulle International Airport

- 1) via Taxi: A taxi between Charles de Gaulle Airport and central Paris takes about 45 minutes. Chauffeur-driven limousines also are available for hire between the airport and central Paris.
- 2) via Train: The rapid RER train service links Charles de Gaulle Airport with central Paris. Trains run every 15 minutes (eight minutes in peak periods) and the journey takes approximately 35 minutes. Line B runs from the TGV station at Terminal 2 to Gare du Nord train station. From there, take the #4 métro line (purple) north to Barbès Rochechouart station. Transfer to the #2 métro line (blue) going west to Victor Hugo station. The office is a short walk from the station.

From Orly Airport

- 1) via Taxi: A taxi between Orly and central Paris takes about 30-45 minutes. Chauffeur-driven limousines also are available for hire between the airport and central Paris.
- 2) via Bus/Train: Take the Orlybus, from either terminal, to the métro/RER station at Denfert-Rochereau).
Option1: From there, take the #4 métro line (purple) north to Barbès Rochechouart station. Transfer to the #2 métro line (blue) going west to Victor Hugo station. The office is a short walk from the station.
Option 2: From there, take the #6 metro line (green) north to Boissière and take the Rue Boissière up to Place Victor Hugo. The office is a short walk from the station.
- 3) via Train (this option can be expensive): The airport is indirectly connected to Paris by the Orlyval (automatic metro) which operates every 4-7 minutes from each terminal. Take Orlyval (a short 8-minute hop) to the RER station Antony. From there, take the RER B line north to Gare du Nord train station (which has connections to the metro.)

Via Métro

The office is located just a short walk from the Victor Hugo station, on the #2 métro line (blue).
